

Melrose, MA George Maiback sent me the enclosed obituary from the Boston Globe. I had no idea that Father was that far advanced in years. George said he used to play golf with him several years ago that usually wound up as a mini-reunion. Thanks George for the info.

Vallingby, Sweden, Henry wrote me quite a long letter mostly about the upcoming trip. He was planning to be in Denver for the Stalog Luft III reunion May 1-5. Jack Rathbone, I hope you were available and represented Oflag 64 at the Marriott Hotel in Denver on those dates. I know Henry would like to see you. See you soon Henry when we get to Copenhagen or at least Stockholm.

Colorado Springs, CO Well the Lord has been busy since my last newsletter. On April 13, 1985, "Injun" Joe" Hoffman was given the call and went to the great beyond. Enclosed is his obituary which was forwarded to me by his wife Tillian which I really appreciated, We'll miss you "Injun Joe" Mrs Hoffman may be contacted by writing:

Mrs. Earl Hoffman

Lakeland, FL A very nice letter from "Honeybear" Bryant. Thanks for letting me know why we don't have the pleasure of your company on the trip to Europe. Unfortunately the Lowe's were unable to join us but we have a great group going. Definitely see you in Orlando in 1986 Thanks for writing.

Shreveport, LA Thanks much John Goode for your nice contribution to the Postage Fund. I know you'll find Jerry Sage book enjoyable, enlightening and interesting. Send to me $5.00 for a copy if you haven't gotten yours yet. Thanks to Chelation therapy I am staying quite healthy. You do the same and see you in Orlando.

Potamac, MD Always a pleasure to hear from General John Waters. This was regarding extra photographs that we had both received of the award ceremonies at the Post Chapel of Port George G. Meade. He has since been on a restful cruise thru the Panama Canal to the West Coast. Glad you had a chance to get away. Best to you and Ann and hope you can join us in Orlando. Not to far away.

PHILADELPHIA, PA The head chaplain at the Chapel of Four Chaplains wrote to thank me for a little item I worked out for him and also included the following; at the end of his letter Don't forget to let me know if the Chapel can do anything for the P.O.W.'s. If any of you have any ideas along this line let me know and I will convey it to Chaplain James Pierc

Warren, MI Thanks much Steve for the new name to be added to our mailing list. As you can see even after my big letter of last month I'm still trying to catch up with Pass communications to me. Someone else did send me New & Lanbous address but thanks anyway.

I received an article printed in the Detroit Free Press but am unable to tie it with Lt. Rutts. Let me know steve the Barkov connection so that it might have more meeting to our membership Thanks.

Detroit, MI Welcome to our group Mr Rutts. As noted above Steve sent me your name and address. We are only too glad to have addition to our group that joined us in Hommelburg. Many were at our last reunion in Las Vegas and Thoughly enjoyed themselves. Again Welcom

Bangor, ME Nice to hear from Milt Jellis. He sent me the name & address of Richard Pigeon. Thanks Milt. It certainly is a mystery to me what ever happened to Lawrence Thibabeaux who not only was in the same outfit with me as well as being in prison camp. After all these years I guess I just forgot about him. Thanks for your Postage Fund contribution. Did the legislator approve P.O.W. on the license plates? Hope you can coordinate your Florida visit with our Reunion in Orlando. in October '86.

Charlotte, N.C. What a guy! Writes me a nice letter then calls me on the phone. Thanks much to Donald Hessler, Real glad you enjoyed the Hammelburg. Raid! book. I guess you and I had very similiar experiences as I returned to Hammelburg and thus eventually to Moosburg. Your right a book Moosburg to Moosburg should prove to be interesting but it would take a lot of research. I know my mind is very vague on many details. Thanks for the contribution to the Postage Fund. See you in Orlando.

Elearwater, FL The enclosed article is quite an exciting one and I appreciate George Rosenthal sending it to me. I remember George when we dined at the same table in Miami for the Saturday Night Bash. A very pleasant evening as I recall. I would be interested in learning about the "new" Oflag 64 that you helped established east of the one in Schublin. Any info would be appreciated. Thanks for the contribution to the Postage Fund. See you again in Orlando.

New York, NY Well, I sure put my foot in my mouth when I suggested that you write to Dick Rossbach and maybe he could spare a copy. Well this was a limited edition which he just had printed in celebration of his 70th birthday gift to his friends. Just one printing and the type was broken up and melted down as metal. Thanks Dick for the very gentle chastisement you gave me. If we have any more publications I'll certainly check with the author before making the offer. You enjoy the enclosed article on Doyle Yardley's death which pretty much sets the record straight. Glad you had such a great time prior to the last time you saw Dick Van Sickle. Thanks again for your very informative letter. Hope your health continues to be stable.

Grove City, OH The man with the only khaki knitted skull cap left from W W II sent me the information about Col. Doyle Yardley. Thanks much "Brad" Bradford. A copy of the news article is enclosed. This article was sent to Brad by way of the late Amon Carter. Thanks also for the contribution to the Postage Fund. They are always welcome. You are wondering about being so busy now that you are retired. I'm only semi retired and I'm already wondering what I will do when I'm retired. Orlando is around the corner.

Military funeral having always been very proud of his military service. Mrs. Castle also noted that the Doctor enjoyed the POST OFLAG ITEM. He will be missed and were sorry we didn't see more of him. Any desiring to contact Mrs. Castle may do so as follows:

Winter Park, FL From ACE typist Col. John Van Vliet, Jr (ret USA) comes an advice on the change of address which according to the map looks as if it will be more pleasant living. Leesburg (new address) is a smaller town and is on the shores of quite a sizable lake. Hope you enjoy John. Thanks for wanting to keep in touch.

Lawton, OK Well, from Florida to Oklahoma Martin Keiser writes a nice check for the Postage Fund and a copy of Jerry Sage's Book. Hope you enjoy! Indeed it was good to see you too Marty. Looking forward to doing it again in Orlando.

Ft. Myers, FL Back to Florida again. Bill Haynes asked for a couple of the items listed in the April newsletter which have been shipped to him. Keep well Bill and I'm trying so I can see you in Orlando.

Beverly, OHIO Here is another instance where yours truly draws a blank. See the enclosed obituary of Louis "Jack" Henniger. Again Mrs. Eleanear Henniger was kind enough to forward the information, a copy which is enclosed with this newsletter. In case you don't have her address she may be reached at

Mrs Elinear Henniger
P.O. Box 104
Beverly, OH 45715

Birmingham, MT What a big "blooper"! bot Victor Konners and his wife's name was left of both lists that were supplied to me as having attended the reunion. I did not have the Reunions Memory Book to double check it with the other lists so thats how you were missed.

Also I guess Vic you missed the Saturday A.M. meeting because there was no card in that pack of cards. Bill Dunbar's sorry. Sure hope you can talk your pal into joining you in Orlando. I remember you very well and know you were here as I chatted with you briefly before we all went into dinner Saturday evening, I also remember your 50 page log of your P.O.W. experience particularly the March. Thanks for the KUDOS on the job I'm doing but it wouldn't be anything without you fellows out there. Haven't had a chance to listen to the tape or read the book as yet but the book is next on my list. Thanks much for both and keep up the good work on the patriotic front. We need it. Sorry again about the oversight on the omission of your name from the list. Look forward to seeing you again in Orlando in 1986.

Roswell, NM Walter Gill is a "Gentleman and a scholar". It was nice of you to send that nice contribution to the Postage Fund. By the time you get this newsletter I will probably have been to Moosburg, I hope I get some worthwhile pictures that I can show everyone in Orlando. As a matter of fact to-morrow is the day the armistice was signed in Reims where I was going through a delousing unit and had to give up a brand new British Eisenhower Jacket and trousers. Was I mad! Sure glad you enjoyed Las Vegas and hope that I have a chance to get to know you better in Orlando. Sure hope you can come up with Leo Thiemie's address.

Allentown, PA Boy this is a small world and as we all know its getting smaller in many ways. A Joseph J. Szvetitz, Jr. wrote an article in Ex. POW Magazine entitled " The Breadtime Incident our own Sidney Miller from Waupeaces wrote to him about it. It evidently involved Luchenwalde. Sidney had sent to me some time ago pictures of Luchewalde and thus the reason Joe wrote to me to take a look at the pictures some time when he is in the area. Be glad to get to-gether with Joseph at his convience.

Daytona Beach, FL

Boy, I keep getting back to Florida. Well its a nice place and I'm really going in '86. Thanks Dick Meskill for the request for the Reunion Book. Hope you have received it by now NOW the BIG NEWS! Dick writes that we will be in the Sheraton Twin Towers in Orlando. Great! Centrally located and I understand great transportation facilities to all points of potential road. More information coming in the next POST OFLAG ITEM . Hang on to your seats! You'll have to wait until I visit Hommelburg & Moosburg before you get the details. This will be mailed about the time I'm flying over the Atlantic. Thats all for now !

WAS CLEANING GUN AFTER HUNT *WEDNESDAY, APRIL 24, 1946.

Lingleville Paratroop Colonel Who Escaped Nazis Accidentally Slain

DUBLIN, April 24 (Spl).—Col. Doyle R. Yardley, 33, paratroop officer and former prisoner of war of the Germans, was accidentally shot to death Tuesday afternoon in the bathroom of his parents' home, four miles west of Lingleville.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Yardley. His father said he had been rabbit hunting and was cleaning his rifle, when it was discharged. He was shot through the lung, near the heart.

Besides his parents, he is survived by two sisters, Miss Juanita Grama Yardley and Mrs. Leland Turbow, Wichita Falls.

Yardley, a member of the 509th Parachute Infantry Battalion, who had seen service in North Africa and Sicily, was wounded and captured Sept. 15, 1943, two and one-half hours after jumping behind German lines at Salerno, Italy. He held the Purple Heart and the Bronze Star Medal.

During most of the 16 months he was held captive he was confined in Oflag 64, Szubin, Poland. He escaped from the camp in January 1945, while German guards were moving prisoners to another camp, and made his way to the Soviet lines. He was with the Russian 5th Army under Marshal Zhukov for two months and then was sent to Odessa, where transportation to the United States was arranged.

He returned home in April last year and later was sent to South America on an assignment. He was discharged last Feb. 6.

A graduate of Dublin High School and John Tarleton College, he finished Texas A&M in 1937 and was a vocational agriculture teacher in South Texas. He was called to active duty in 1941.

COLONEL YARDLEY.

It was a dream vacation — up to a point.

George and Janet Rosenthal of Clearwater were winding up one of those vacations most of us just dream about — a comfortable flight on Icelandair's new run from Orlando to Luxembourg, a leisurely drive through France to Interlaken, Switzerland, two weeks of glorious skiing on the slopes of the Swiss Alps, a drive back to Luxembourg and — and — that's when things started to go wrong.

Oh, boy, did they! But the couple at least can regale their friends with more exciting stories than how deep the snow was and how steep the slopes were.

They were in their Icelandair plane March 13, starting to taxi down the runway for the trip home. Thinking about the plane being loaded with 300 passengers, all bringing back twice as much baggage as they took over, and enough fuel for a transatlantic flight, Rosenthal wisecracked to an Orlando skiing friend sitting nearby that it felt as if the plane was too heavy to get off the ground.

THE PLANE BEGAN to pick up speed. Then Mrs. Rosenthal heard a bang that sounded like a tire blowout. That's what it was. "There was a major shudder and rumble," she said. As the plane began to slow down, her husband said, the vibrations stopped.

But then there was the sound of an "explosion," like another tire had blown. It had.

The plane finally came to halt near the end of the runway. "The fence was right in front of us," Rosenthal said.

EDITOR'S NOTE

ROBERT HENDERSON

And that's where they sat. The stewardesses, he said, had all dashed to the front of the plane and into the cockpit, so there was no one to explain what was going on. Mrs. Rosenthal recalls one announcement over the public address system, the classic, "We are experiencing technical difficulties."

Rosenthal said they sat there for 20 to 25 minutes, which angers him because he thinks they should have immediately been told to evacuate the plane. Several Orlando passengers quoted in an Orlando Sentinel story also said there was a long delay. But William Connors, Icelandair's director of public relations in New York, insists that only two or three minutes passed before things began to happen.

What had happened, he explained, is that two tires on the left landing gear had blown. The braking, he said, had caused the brake system and one of the tires to "ignite." But no one in the plane, including the crew, could initially see the smoke because it was under the plane.

NEITHER COULD anyone in the control tower. Connors said, because of snow furries. But Icelandair officials in a car had immediately driven to the plane when it stopped, saw the smoke, ordered an evacuation and called for the airport fire brigade.

Rosenthal said that brought one of the stewardesses out of the cockpit yelling, "Everybody off the plane!" "That's enough to start a real scramble," he said. And it didn't help when passengers looking out windows began to see smoke and flames.

"We all stood up," he said. "When someone started to push, others grabbed them and steadied them."

Rosenthal recalled looking out the window, seeing the fire and thinking to himself, "This plane can blow. We're all vulnerable — but we'll never know if (if it happens)." He also remembered being in this part of the world 40 years ago, during World War II, and almost getting killed.

The passengers got the emergency doors open and activated the chutes that lead to the ground, but Rosenthal said some anxious passengers started down the chutes before they were fully inflated and fell off. Surprisingly, though, no one was seriously injured, he said. Later, back in the terminal waiting for another plane, one passenger decided that he'd had enough and asked overboarded, he said, "ingested" some fumes from the refueling process and sent them into the cabin.

The passengers, he reasoned, must have smelled the fumes, thought there was another fire and imagined the smoke.

Nonsense, countered Mrs. Rosenthal and other passengers. She recalls one man pounding on a cabin door and shouting, "Let me off!" They didn't.

AS THE PLANE was ready to take off from Baltimore, Mrs. Rosenthal started to buckle her seat belt. It became disengaged from the seat, so she just held onto her husband.

"This has definitely been a disastrous day," he thought to himself. They had been scheduled to land in Orlando at 7:55 p.m. that Friday. They actually arrived at 5 a.m. the next morning.

As the Rosenhals walked by the stewardess to get off the plane, he handed her his wife's seat belt and said with a straight face, "I think somebody forgot this."

for a refund so he could make other arrangements. "But we just gave you a free lunch," an Icelandair employee said incredulously, according to Mrs. Rosenthal. He didn't get his refund.

BY THE TIME another plane was ready for takeoff several hours later, the snow furries had become a "driving snowstorm." Mrs. Rosenthal recalled. But this time they got off the ground, across the Atlantic and safely back on the ground in Baltimore to refuel.

They were in the plane, sitting on the ground in Baltimore, when the cabin began to fill up with smoke. Mrs. Rosenthal said, "You couldn't even see the forward part of the plane." Several Orlando passengers confirmed the smoke.

This is where Icelandair's public relations man really begs to differ. "There was no smoke whatsoever in the plane," he said. "I flatly deny that (there was smoke)."

There was a problem, he said, with the ground power unit, which provides power to the plane for lights and air-conditioning when the plane's engines are not running. Air-conditioning equipment in the unit to Dr. Eugene Castle

For a complete obituary, see page 3.

Dr. Eugene A. Castle, a prominent Madisonville physician, died of a heart attack Saturday afternoon at his home.

Dr. Castle delivered over 6,000 babies in the 25 years he worked as an obstetrician at Trover Clinic.

"He was a fastastic OB doctor, surgeon. . . He was everybody's friend," says RN Jill Myers, Regional Medical Center OB clinical supervisor. "He was one of those doctors you admired and respected. He was friendly, but everybody knew he was firm."

"He knew everybody in the hospital," adds RN Norma Blackburn, also a clinical supervisor.

Ms. Myers tells of the time several years ago at the old Hopkins County Hospital:

"A young obstetrician came out to the nurses' station and started pulling charts himself. Dr. Castle came by and everybody started pulling charts for him. The young obstetrician said, 'I guess you have got to be white headed to get respect around here. Dr. Castle said, 'No, that's not how you get respect.'"

Ms. Myers did not have to say that Dr. Castle earned respect. Her tone of voice said that for her.

Dr. Castle was the 15th physician to join Trover Clinic, doing so February 18, 1959. He was the chief of the Obstetrics-Gynecology Department at Trover Clinic. Last year, he gave up his obstetrics practice but continued his practice in gynecology.

The native of McAlester,

Oklahoma graduated from the University of Oklahoma's Medical School where he also did his internship and residency in obstetrics and gynecology.

After that, he worked one year

Eugene Castle

Dr. Eugene A. Castle, 66, of Madisonville, died Saturday at his home, of a heart attack.

Born in McAlester, Okla., Sept. 2, 1918, he was the son of the late Mabel Pascoe and Elmer B. Castle.

Dr. Castle was a member of the Hopkins County Medical Society, the Kentucky Medical Society, the American Medical Association, the Southern Medical Association, the American College of OB-Gyn, and was a past president of the Kentucky OB-Gyn Society.

He was a member of the First United Methodist Church, the Madisonville Country Club, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and was a Kentucky Colonel.

He married Lula Margaret Green, April 12, 1958.

In addition to his wife he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. David E. (Margaret) Castle Lemke, Columbia, Mo.; one son, Allen Castle, Lexington.

Services will be held 10 a.m. Tuesday at Barnett-Strother Funeral Home, with Dr. Harry Pullen officiating. Entombment will be in Madisonville Mausoleum at Oddfellows Cemetery.

Friends may call from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m. today at Barnett-Strother.

Active pallbearers will be Horace Arnold, Major

Haywood; Dr. Joe Jones, Charles Rudd, Charles Tate, and Bill Thomas.

All Trover Clinic physicians will serve as honorary pallbearers.

at the Miners Memorial Hospital in Middlesboro, Ky. before moving to Madisonville. There he met his wife, the former Lula Margaret Green, and they were married April 12, 1958.

Dr. Castle served six years the U.S. Infantry during World War II, attaining the rank of captain. He was captured at Azio and imprisoned in a P.O. camp in Poland. He has been there almost a year when he and two others escaped and made their way into Russia. He was awarded the Purple Heart, and the Presidential Unit Citation.

When Dr. Castle gave up OB practice, the OB nursing staff at RMC wrote the following commendation:

"Dr. Castle has invested many years of his life to improving the standard of care for unborn babies. Due to his judgment and foresight, the practice of obstetrics in this hospital progressed to a highly skilled, modern technological state.

Dr. Castle is well loved by patients, peers, and particularly by the nurses who work with him. His patience, fortitude and earthy sense of humor have often saved the day and turned an impossible situation into an attainable goal. . . ."

Rev. Charles Glennon, 76; pastor of Holy Ghost Church in Whitman

WHITMAN - Services will be held tomorrow for Rev Charles F. Glennon, 76, who died Wednesday in the South Shore Hospital in Weymouth after a short illness. He was pastor of the Holy Ghost Church here.

He was born in Jamaica Plain and attended St. Leo XIII school in Jamaica Plain, which was re-named St. Thomas Aquinas, and Jamaica Plain High School. He was graduated from Boston College with the Class of 1929. After six years training at the archdiocesan seminary in Brighton, he was ordained a priest on May 22, 1935 at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross by William Cardinal O'Connell.

Fr. Glennon's first assignment was at St. Jerome's Parish in Weymouth and he later was transferred to the Lady of Lourdes parish in Revere. Seven years later he volunteered as an Army chaplain in World War II. He received two Purple Hearts and was a German prisoner of war for 10 months and released when the war ended. He was discharged as a major.

He was then assigned as associate pastor to St. Joseph's parish in Malden where he served for the next 18 years and was also principal of the St. Joseph's School in Malden.

After 26 years in the priesthood, he was appointed in 1961 by Richard Cardinal Cushing as pastor of the newly formed parish of St. Isadore in Stow. After 8 years there he left Stow in 1969 to become pastor of Holy Ghost Church in Whitman until his death.

He leaves a sister, Marie C. Glennon of Scituate. He was the brother of the late Rev. James G. Glennon, Rev. John E. Glennon OSA, Thomas Glennon and William Glennon.

Fr. Glennon will lie in state in Holy Ghost Church today from 2-8 p.m. followed by a funeral Mass tomorrow in Holy Ghost Church at 10 a.m.
